MCCREARY AND OLLIE JAMES

Got Great Vote in Primary Saturday.

MCCREARY'S MAJORITY LARGE

A Light Vote and Quiet Election Throughout the State.

THE RESULT IN OHIO COUNTY

The Hon. James B. McCreary, of Madison county, was Saturday chosen by the Democrats of Kentucky to lead them in the race for Governor this fall. Senator McCreary's majority is claimed by his managers to be between 25,000 and 30,000. Less than forty per cent. of the Democratic vote in Kentucky was polled.

Hon. Ollie M. James, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, was nominated by an enormous majority. A week or so ago Senator Paynter, his opponent, withdrew from the race. However, Paynter's name remained on the ballot and he received a scattering vote.

In the race for Attorney General James Garnett was nominated by a majority of 20,000, defeating Pollard.

Barksdale Hamlett, of Christian county, won handsily by a majority of 10,000 in the race for Superintendent of Public Instruction, defeating Littrell and Eubanks.

Newman won the race for Commissioner of Agriculture, defeating Hill and Wyatt by a plurality estimated at 25,000.

Popular "Bob" Greene was chosen as the nominee for Clerk of the Court of Appeals by a majority of 15,000 votes over Morgan Chlan.

Ollie James of course led the ticket, polling more than 90 per cent. of the vote cast. In several counties not a vote was recorded against Mr. James, notwithstanding the fact that Senator T. H. Paynter's name was on the ballot. Paynter carried Greenup, his home county, by a bare majority.

McCreary probably carried nine out of the 119 counties. When the final returns are in they may show that the Madison county man carried 100 counties, leaving 19 counties in which his opponent received the greatest number of votes.

McCreary led the ticket and his majority will be greater than any other candidate. He carried nine out of the eleven Congressional districts, having received a majority of the votes in Addams' own district.

McCreary's big vote came from the Second, Third, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Tenth and Eleventh districts. In these districts Addams made a sorry showing, receiving only a scattering vote here and there. McCreary carried every county in the Seventh, Eighth, Tenth and Eleventh districts. He lost McCreary county, Livingston county and Crittenden county in the First district. In the Second district he lost Daviess county, Henderson county and Hancock county by small majorities.

Addams carried Louisville and Jefferson county by a majority of over 8,000.

In the Third district, in which Addams was thought to have considerable strength, McCreary ran away with the Harrison county man, carrying every county but one. In the Fourth district, the home of Congressman Ben Johnson, who with Mayor Head and Frank McGrath, constituted the opposition to McCreary, the Harrison county man came into his own. Practically every county reporting from the Fourth gave Addams a majority. Nelson county, where Mr. Johnson resides, returned a majority of upwards of 700 for Addams.

Thomas S. Rhea for Treasurer and C. F. Creel for Secretary of State won without opposition.

Three days after the holding of the Democratic State primary the issue is still in doubt in two races—State Auditor and Lieutenant Governor—Ruby Laffoon and Henry M. Bosworth claiming the nomination in the former and Edward J. McDermott and James P. Edwards in the latter race. The outcome in both contests will depend on the vote of missing counties, located principally in the eastern section of the State. On the face of the unofficial returns received, McDermott leads for Lieutenant Governor with Laffoon and Bosworth running close together in the Auditor's race.

While Mr. Edwards makes the direct charge that the missing counties are being held back for a purpose, he says it is the intention of his friends to lift the matter to the bottom and not to stand for any padding or "monkeying" with the returns. He claims to have won the nomination by 8,000. On the other hand, Mr. McDermott says he is confident that he has been nominated for the second place on the ticket, and that the returns from the missing counties will establish his claim to the nomination without question.

Official returns from very few counties have been received, and in many instances the full vote of several counties is not figured in the tabulations.

In the races for Lieutenant Governor and State Auditor it will take the official count to decide who has received the nomination. In several counties only estimates of majorities have been made, which may be materially changed when the official count is tabulated.

In Ohio County.

The Democratic primary in Ohio county last Saturday was very quiet and sparsely attended, only about one-third of the full-regular vote being polled. There was no election carried on in McHenry precinct at all, owing to the fact that the officers appointed neglected the matter on account of being busy and failed to get substitutes. The total vote for the different candidates in the county was as follows:

For United States Senator—Thomas H. Paynter, 12; Ollie M. James, 627.

For Governor—James B. McCreary, 157; William Addams, 532.

For Lieutenant Governor—Edward J. McDermott, 195; James P. Edwards, 319; T. G. Stuart, 88.

For Treasurer—Thomas S. Rhea, 555.

For Auditor of Public Accounts—Ruby Laffoon, 471; Henry M. Bosworth, 145.

For Attorney General—James Garnett, 386; O. H. Pollard, 187.

For Secretary of State—C. F. Creel, 527.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—Barksdale Hamlett, 271; L. C. Littrell, 137; R. S. Eubank, 156.

For Commissioner of Agriculture, Labor and Statistics—J. W. Newman, 240; B. F. Hill, 271; G. T. Wyatt, 90.

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Robert L. Greene, 343; J. Morgan Chlan, 269.

"NIGHT RIDERS" THREATEN TENNESSEE CATTLEMEN

Nashville, Tenn., July 1.—An unexpected form of "night riding" is threatened in Henderson county, Tennessee. Some time ago the State Livestock Inspector granted certain persons in the county, mostly wild, the privilege of allowing their milch cows and other cattle to roam at large on unfenced lots. Recent developments in that county, which is within the quarantine line, have determined Inspector White to arbitrarily withdraw this concession.

Dr. White was led to this action by the fact that vine vats were built in the county to dip their cattle as a means of ridding them of Texas fever ticks, but "night riders" visited the vicinity of the vats, cut the wire fences and left written notices that unless the dipping process was immediately stopped, the vats themselves would be destroyed.

These written notices conveyed the information to the owners that cattle dipping should not be carried on in the county.

Soldiers' Reunion.

There was a very large crowd in attendance at the Soldiers' G. A. R. Reunion at Centertown yesterday and the day was highly enjoyed by all present. There was such a crowd waiting at the Hartford depot yesterday morning that the two coaches would not accommodate over half. So the train went on to Centertown, returned to Hartford and took those who could not go on the first train.

Taxes Due.

Your taxes for the year 1911 are now due. Please call at the Sheriff's office and settle. Promptness in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

PEOPLE SCARED BY BIG 'QUAKE

Another Shake on Pacific Coast,

CAUSING PANIC IN BIG CITIES

Two Shocks Felt—The Most Violent Since 'Quake of 1906.

MANY INJURED DURING PANIC

San Francisco, July 1.—The central portion of California and Western Nevada was shaken to-day by two earthquake shocks which are pronounced to be the heaviest since the big shake of 1906. They were separated by only a few seconds.

The first sharp shock was experienced at 2:01 o'clock, and was followed in a few seconds by one of similar intensity, each lasting about five seconds.

In San Francisco and other cities in the affected area panic seized the crowds in stores and restaurants and there was a pell-mell exodus from the large buildings.

One peculiar feature of the earthquake was that it did not appear to follow the old "fault" in the earth's crust, which has been the playground of tremblers in the past, but extended from the seacoast eastward to the Sierras, including hitherto exempt mountain areas.

It was felt to the northward of Sacramento in the Sacramento Valley, southward as far as Fresno, and to the east to Carson and Reno, Nev., the latter place experiencing the heaviest shock in its history.

Some slight damage was done to buildings in San Francisco. Heavy stones in the cornice of the Mechanics' Bank building were moved slightly out of alignment; superficial cracks were made in several large office buildings; cornices of the new Post-office building were disarranged, and minor damage was done to the interior walls of a number of other buildings.

Within a few seconds after the first shock many downtown buildings were depopulated in a rush to the streets. Telephone and telegraph service was suspended by the operators deserting their posts.

Herbert Hadley, a lodging house inmate, fell dead of fright and some cases of hysteria, of cuts or bruises suffered in the semi-panic, were treated at the hospitals.

Santa Rosa, which suffered the greater disaster in proportion to its size than did San Francisco in the earthquake of 1906, scarcely felt to-day's shock.

San Jose, another heavy sufferer in 1906, reported that the shock to-day was the severest experienced since that time, but it did no serious damage. Stockton and Fresno people were frightened by the jarring, but there, as in San Francisco, where the State offices were deserted in thrice as a result of the trembler, the damage to buildings was trifling.

In Reno, Nev., the shock was scarcely felt, but in Carson it was severe.

The Federal Court was in session in the Nevada capital, and Judge, jury and attorneys rushed to the street.

At the Santa Clara College Observatory both reels were thrown off the seismograph. They were immediately replaced, but the record of the disturbance will be incomplete.

The mean time clock at the observatory of the University of California was stopped for the first time since the great quake of 1906.

The deep booming reverberations which usually mark disturbances of a widespread character, accompanied the first tremor.

In San Francisco the groaning and creaking of the steel structures played a larger part in frightening people than did the tremors.

Despite some slight opposition, it is said that Francisco I. Madero will be the nominee of the political "powers that be" for the presidency of Mexico. President Taft will maintain the border patrol.

The production of commercial coal in Kentucky during the year 1910 was 14,720,011 short tons.

CRAZED BY HEAT, SHE

KILLED SELF AND CHILDREN

Lockney, Tex., June 26.—Crazed by heat, Mrs. Maude McCrary, of Los Angeles, Cal., killed her three small children and ended her own life in a vacant house here yesterday. This became lost, found the bodies of the searching party which late yesterday scoured the countryside for the woman and children, thinking they had become lost, found the bodies of the children in the weeds near the vacant house and the body of the mother hanging to an unused windmill at the rear. Mrs. McCrary was here on a visit to her mother, Mrs. R. M. Hamilton.

Yesterday Mr. McCrary went out of her mother's room unobserved, and with her children sought seclusion in the deserted house, some distance from Mrs. Hamilton's residence. The house is a two-story structure. Apparently Mrs. McCrary took the children one at a time into separate rooms upstairs, where she cut their throats with broken glass taken from the windows and tossed the bodies into the weeds outside. The children's ages were three years, five years and three months respectively.

The mother left a note stating that no one was to blame except herself, but its wording caused the belief that she was temporarily insane from the excessive heat which prevailed here yesterday.

DICK FOWLER TO BE SOLD AGAIN FOR THIRD TIME

Paducah, Ky., June 30.—Federal Judge Walter Evans has ordered the steamer Dick Fowler sold again on July 5 at 10 a. m. Deputy United States Marshal Elwood Neel will conduct the sale, which will be at auction. This will be the third public sale of the boat. At the last sale Capt. Ralph Emerson bought the boat for $500, but creditors protested and Judge Evans held the figure too low, therefore ordered another sale. At the first sale the boat brought $1,000. The Dick Fowler was formerly the fastest boat on Western waters.

Broke Neck While Driving.

Paducah, Ky., June 30.—The low stage of water in the Ohio river is responsible for the death of Penn Kerr, of Colconda, Ill., who broke his neck diving. He attended a picnic at Roudon Island and dived off a launch. His head struck the river bed and although his body was speedily rescued, he could not be resuscitated. He was twenty years old and son of Tony Kerr, of Pope county, Illinois.

Dead From Pellagra.

Lexington, Ky., June 30.—Mrs. Nannie Ellen Murphy, wife of Geo. Murphy, a mechanist employed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, died here this morning of pellagra. This is the third death from the new disease reported here within a year.

SHEER FALLACY OF PROTECTION

Argument Shown in Redfield's Speech.

IS A MANUFACTURER HIMSELF

And Therefore Knows Whereof He Speaks—Instances of Tariff Graft.

TARIFF EXPOSURE TO DATE

(By Tavenner, Special Washington Correspondent of The Herald.) Washington, July 1.—There is one protectionist argument that will never again occupy the place in American politics that it has in the past.

That is the argument that a high protection wall is necessary to enable American manufacturers to compete in home markets with foreign manufactured goods.

The reason this stock protectionist argument will never again perform the same valuable mission for the Republicans, is because of a speech delivered in the House by Wm. C. Redfield, of New York, who is a manufacturer himself, and who for 18 years has been selling American manufactures in foreign countries.

Redfield contended and proved that the difference in daily wage at home and abroad should not be the sole basis of determining the amount of protection to be applied to a given article.

He cited instance after instance in which he sold articles manufactured by $5-a-day American employees in the countries where labor received less than a dollar a day.

Redfield took the position that American manufacturers do not need as much protection as they are now enjoying "to protect them from foreign competition" because they are successfully competing with foreign manufacturers in all parts of the world.

"How does it happen," demanded Redfield, "that in a quotation recently made for machinery to a mine in Japan the American price was $215 less than the English price?" "How does it happen that 720 locomotives are running upon the Japanese railways, and upon the railways of Formosa and upon those of Manchuria? These are sold in open competition with the makers of Great Britain."

Redfield related an incident between an American salesman who recently took a large contract from the Japanese Imperial State Railways and one of the managers of the Imperial Railways shop.

The Japanese official was under the impression that he could manufacture locomotives cheaper than an American plant because Japanese wages are but one-fifth of American wages.

"Both men got out their cost books," said Redfield, "and they found that the fact was, the labor cost for locomotives on the same specifications was three and one-half times greater in the Japanese and this is a perfectly normal fact and not an abnormal one."

Redfield said when he was in Calcutta, India, recently, his agent pointed to a pair of American-made shoes he was wearing.

"I paid $2.50 for those shoes," said the agent. "It is the regular American $5 shoe."

Redfield said that when he returned to New York he found the same shoe peddling on Broadway for $5. I shall be glad to give names and addresses to any member who inquires in private.

Redfield gave a score of similar instances. It is impossible to do justice to his remarkable revelation in this dispatch. Every reader of this article may secure, free of charge, a copy of the complete speech, without doubt one of the most remarkable of its kind ever made in Congress, by writing Hon. James T. Lovd, Chairman National Democratic Congressional Committee, Washington, D. C.

J. B. Rolemann, former president of the Carnegie Trust Company, was sentenced to four and one-half months in the penitentiary.

Lippincott's and the Vacation Season.

And now comes the vacation season, when the out-of-doors calls to us in tones that will not be denied. Even our reading is done in the open, so far as possible, while as for the kind of reading—well, no involved, problematical fiction need apply. We want stories of love and adventure, full of action and incident—stories of live people. One such story is the complete novel in the July Lippincott's: "From the Car Behind," by Eleanor M. Ingram, author of those successful books, "The Game and the Candle" and "Stanton Wins." Like her other stories, "From the Car Behind" has to do with motoring, especially motor racing. The love interest is captivating, the action tense, the humor abundant, the mystery long-sustained.

The short-stories are fully up to the magazine's high standard. "One of Many," is one of a life in Washington, by Ella Middleton Tybott. Others are "The Return of Rebecca," by Minna Thomas Antrim; "The Tribulations of Trinity Tim," by George Rothwell Brown, and "The Labor Editor," by Grayce Druitt Latas.

Besides these, there is the usual big humorous section, full of new jokes, jingles, and anecdotes. You will need this number of Lippincott's to read on your vacation, and if you don't get any vacation, you will need it to console you.

OUR FORBEARS GOT A RELIGIOUS "SOUSE"

From Old Gospel Hymns, Say Critics, Who Call Them Baneful Music.

St. Louis, June 29.—"Old gospel hymns, for which our forbears martyred their peace and occasionally sacrificed their heads, and with which they rocked themselves into a religious souze, are cheap, crude and do not tend to sobriety. They appeal to the inebriate instincts and produce a physical ecstasy akin to intoxicating liquors."

"They are indigenous to America and probably sprang from the rhythmic convulsions of the old Southern darkey. The tunes are the cheapest of dance music of a most primitive character. They are the most baneful influence against the progress of American music."

This is the conviction of representative musicians attending the Missouri State Musicians' Convention here. The hymns mentioned as typical of this class of so-called sheet music were: "At the Cross," "The Cross," "Throw Out the Life Line," "Oh, Happy Day," and "I Want to Be an Angel."

James T. Quarles, organist at the aristocratic Lindell Avenue M. E. Church, where the convention is being held, said none of these hymns was used in his church. He declared they are being thrown out of all the large churches and are heard now only at the missions. He said practically every Protestant city church has revised or is revising its hymn books.

Ernest R. Kroger, another noted St. Louis musician, said: "Canned music or music of the mechanical kind, is the greatest agency for popularizing good music in America. Sentimental songs, like 'Annie Rooney,' are on the wane."

FOLLOWING INSTRUCTIONS IMPLICITLY—ONE ON DAD

A Washington parent from out Mt. Pleasant way tells the Washington Star the following story of his young son, who, by the way, has not reached the ahaving stage yet, but as the story indicates, is still not averse to trying.

The other evening he was reading the newspaper when he suddenly exclaimed, "Father, I see in the paper that the corporation is going to bust that you are president of."

Now, I knew I knew more about my business than the paper, so I replied, very comfortably, "My son, never believe anything you see in a newspaper."

A few days later I found my new razor broken, wrapped in a newspaper and thrown behind the house. I immediately went in search of Bobby.

"Look here, young man, what's the meaning of this?" I said. "Here's my new razor broken all to pieces wrapped in a newspaper and thrown behind the house."

"Father," he replied, backing hastily out of the room, "never believe anything you see in a newspaper."

A Cough. A Cold And then no telling what—unless you use Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It is the best—ask your neighbor. Look for the Bell on the bottle. Sold everywhere.

JOY KILLS WIFE OF A SOLDIER

While He Kissed Her a Happy Greeting

SHE FELL DYING IN HIS ARMS

Tragedy Marks Sudden Return of Trooper From Long Stay in Texas.

WIFE WAS IN CONSTANT FEAR

Brooklyn, June 30.—Joy at the sudden shock of seeing her husband after an absence of nearly four months was assigned as the cause of the death of Mrs. Ida Hollis Harding. She dropped dead as she threw her arms about the neck of her husband, Sergt. William H. Harding, greeting him upon his return from the Mexican border. Plans for a happy reunion were turned to arrangements for a funeral.

Harding is a Sergeant in the Coast Artillery stationed at Fort Hamilton. He has been married four years. On March 8 he was ordered to the front with his company in the Third Provisional Regiment under command of Col. White.

The order came late in the afternoon, and Harding was forced to leave his home that night. Mrs. Harding was almost overcome by the shock, but he assured her that his stay would be short.

The regiment was sent to Galveston, Texas, where Camp Crockett was established. Mrs. Harding became very nervous following the departure of her husband, and spent a great deal of her time with her mother, Mrs. John J. Hollis, at 341 Morgan avenue.

The Hardings live at 210 Gelston avenue, Fort Hamilton. Twice after Mr. Harding went away his wife received reports that he had been killed.

The first one was to the effect that the Sergeant had been killed in an automobile accident in Galveston, and two weeks later she heard that he had been shot in an engagement on the frontier. An exchange of telegrams proved both of these rumors unfounded.

Following these reports Mrs. Harding went into convulsions at her mother's home, brought about by nervous strain.

Sergt. Harding returned to New York with his regiment on board a transport which docked about 7 o'clock. Reports from Sandy Hook had reached Mrs. Harding to the effect that her husband could not reach home until next day.

She was sitting on the front porch of her home at 9:15 o'clock talking with one of her neighbors, and in highly joyous spirits in anticipation of her husband's home-coming.

Suddenly the Sergeant turned the corner a few doors away from his home and ran towards his wife. Mrs. Harding raised up from the steps of the porch and flung herself into her husband's arms with a little cry of joy.

"Oh, Will, I'm so glad to see you," she said. Then she kissed him. Then without any warning she sank into his arms and died.

Dr. McGowan, of Fifth avenue, was called in, and said that Mrs. Harding had died from heart failure, brought about by the sudden shock.

Of Course.

"See here," said the dreammaker, "your car steps are too high for women in hobble gowns. What's to be done?"

"That's simple enough," replied the street railway official. "We'll get up some new styles in car steps."

"DON'T DUCK, I'M BEHIND"—A STORY OF HULL RUN

"These fellows who are so much concerned over the injury the reciprocity bill will work upon the farmer remind me of a soldier I used to know named Carlyle." Representative Ollie James, of Kentucky, said to a reporter of the Brooklyn Eagle.

"Carlyle was given a recruit to break in just on the eve of the first Battle of Bull Run," continued the giant Kentuckian, "and was greatly agitated because the new soldier expressed some fear of cannon balls."

"Courage, boy, courage!" he cried to the recruit, as the roar of battle began from the breastworks and the whining of minnie balls came through the air. "Courage, I say; have no fear, for I am with you."

"Be a man," cried Carlyle, "and don't alarm your country. Remember I'm with you; I'm right behind you."

"Another missile came whirling through the air just over their heads, and the recruit dodged and lowered his head."

"Be brave," Carlyle cried, "and, whatever you do, for God's sake, don't duck. Remember, I'm right behind you."

INFAMOUS TREATMENT OF McMANIGAL'S WIFE

In Order to Compel Her to Appear as a Prosecuting Witness.

Los Angeles, June 29.—Representatives of the prosecution in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting case today confronted Mrs. Orlie McManigal with her husband, one of the accused conspirators, in an ante-room of the grand jury chamber.

Her overwrought nerves gave way before his pleadings and she swooned.

McManigal, it was said, had been taken from jail to plead with his wife to be a witness for the prosecution instead of for the defense, after she had persisted in refusing to answer questions put to her before the grand jury, even when she had been told of the power of the law to punish such refusal.

When she emerged, hysterical, from the grand jury room, Attorney Joseph Scott, an associate of Clarence S. Darrow in the defense of the McNamara brothers, rushed among the detectives surrounding her, and with clenched fists swept the officers aside with threats of violence if they did not cease "hounding this woman."

Later, when Mrs. McManigal and her attorneys reached the street and departed in an automobile, another machine, occupied by three detectives, followed.

The detectives admitted they are making every attempt to win Mrs. McManigal to the side of the prosecution, and that they have taken an apartment next door to the one she occupies, so as to note her every movement.

SAYS TOO MANY DOCTORS ARE ADDICTED TO DRINK

In an address on "Relation of the Doctor to the Alcoholic Problem" delivered before the afternoon session of the Jefferson County W. C. T. U. Institute, in the Warren Memorial church, Dr. W. F. Boggs deplored the fact that many physicians do not take a positive stand against alcohol.

"As it is, fifty-five per cent. of doctors the world over are addicted to the overuse of alcohol, while twenty-five per cent. of them are positively drunkards, and come, in time, to fill drunkards' graves," he declared.

Dr. Boggs said that the average duration of man's life should be 125 years, instead of three score and ten, as King David expressed it.

"David was pretty much what we moderns would call a 'high roller,'" he said, "and burnt the candle at both ends and burned up energy and tissue. Possibly in his day three score and ten was a good average for a man who lived recklessly."—[Louisville Times.

RAT-KILLING DAY IS NAMED AT CARLISLE

Carlisle, Ky., June 24.—Editor Green R. Keller, as grand high commander of the Rat Slayers, has issued a proclamation calling on all of the citizens of Nicholas county to observe July 3 as a day to kill rats. Annually on May 27 for a number of years Mr. Keller has led the slayers against the rats, with the result that hundreds were killed, but as that day was not observed this year, July 3 was chosen.

A GHASTLY TRAIL OF BROKEN LIVES

Lies Behind Career of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

SHE LIVES UNNOTICED NOW

And Alone in Modest Little Flat—Her Name Has Lost Its Magic.

TOLL OF WRECK IS THIRTEEN

All the world knows of the killing of Stanford White on the Madison Square Roof Garden and the testimony of Evelyn Thaw upon the witness stand which enveloped her in shame perpetual. It was this story of her fall that sent Harry Thaw to an asylum for criminal insanity instead of to the electric chair.

After the second trial various stories were told and published as to the whereabouts of the girl, her mode of life, and her ambitions. She was variously described as living luxuriously upon her income from the Thaws and as occupying a small studio in the pursuit of sculpture study. But she has drifted gradually out of the range of public notice. As a matter of fact this girl, not yet past the youth of her twenties, the center of a tragedy known throughout the world, is living in a modest flat, unnoticed and alone.

Her name, once the open sesame to every gilded hostelry in town, has lost its magic. It is not even upon her doorstep. Perhaps she has some friends, but the gay throng of Broadway are no longer her friends. They have no time to remember as they hurry along in the current. But she, in her quiet backwater of a refuge, has plenty of time for memories. She and Nemesis can look back over a ghastly trail of broken lives. Perhaps sometimes she counts. Stanford White in his grave. Harry Thaw wearing out his days within the galling limits of an asylum for criminal insane. His aged mother and his sister Alice self-exiled to the little village on the Hudson, where they may watch the never-fading lights in the second-floor window of his prison. A young millionaire aimlessly wandering about a foreign land, watched by his creditors and shunned by his family. An old man, once a factor in the financial life of Wall Street, now broken and impoverished. Three of the lawyers dead who once fought to save Harry Thaw's life; two others whose careers have been ended by their own discreditable practices. Another man of law, whose glory faded from the day of his association with the Thaw case. And herself.

The toll is thirteen. Who next?—[New York Press.

INDICATIONS SEEN IN THIRTEEN LIGHTNING RODS

When the Republican progressives in the United States Senate come face to face with propositions to reduce the cost of living, to check the paper and lumber trusts and to extend our markets, as provided for in the Canadian agreement, or to elect Senators by popular vote, they bristle with suspicion and opposition. They are more critical than any standpatter. It is harder to satisfy them than any member of the old guard.

Most of them pretend to find some merit in reciprocity—but they will vote against it because it is not a perfect work. Most of them profess friendliness to the idea of direct elections—but they are as particular as a trust magnate about the kind of direct elections that is to be secured. Their ideas are very large. They recognize progress only when it is beyond their reach. Reforms that do not revolutionize government, reorganize society, convulse nature and regenerate man, do not appeal to them.

Nearly every one of these so-called progressives occupies a place that belongs to a Democrat and that would have gone to a Democrat if they had not out-talked the Democrats in their advocacy of Democratic principles. That is the way they tilted themselves over one severe political storm. It looks as if they were now trying to read their titles clear, not to mansions in the Democratic skies, but to front seats in the next Republican standpat convention.

Mr. LaFollette's Presidential candidacy is announced. Perhaps every one of the thirteen has hopes.—[New York World.

THE 14 ERRORS OF LIFE.

To set up our rigid standard of right and wrong and expect everybody to conform to it. To try to measure the enjoyment of others by our own. To expect uniformity of opinion in this world.

To look for judgment and experience in youth. To endeavor to mold all dispositions alike. Not to yield to unimportant trifles.

To look for perfection in our own actions. To worry ourselves and others about what cannot be remedied. Not to alleviate if we can, all that need alleviation. Not to make allowances for the weaknesses of others.

To consider anything impossible that we cannot ourselves perform. To estimate people by some outside quality, for it is that within which makes the man. To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.

To live as if the moment, the time, the day were so important that it would live forever.

PARDON FROM GOV. WILLSON

Was Shown and Prosecution Stopped.

NIGHT RIDER CASE WITNESS

Was Protected by Governor When His Trial Came Up in Court.

HILL TAYLOR METHOD USED

The Hopkinsville New Era says: Instead of having to answer for trial yesterday morning on indictments charging him with breach of the peace and malicious shooting, Arthur Cooper, confessed night rider and one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution in the recent sensational trial of Dr. D. A. Amoss on the charge of leading the night rider raid on Hopkinsville, was released from all responsibility for the offenses charged, on a pardon from Governor Willson. The cases were set for Monday morning and a number of witnesses were ready to take the stand against Cooper. The presentation of the pardon by Attorney Stanley Bassett came as a complete surprise and, setting upon it, Judge Hanberry dismissed the indictments.

The pardon is written on the usual blank prepared for such documents and is not as long as some of them are, but the statements in it are none the less forcible and sensational.

One night recently Cooper is alleged to have driven in company with another man, to the Pee Dee vicinity. It is charged that he first visited the home of Elms Luttrell, where he had boarded for a time while engaged in organizing W. O. W. lodges about eighteen months ago, and to have insisted that Luttrell come out and talk with him, but the latter declined.

He is then said to have gone to the home of John Osteen, arriving there after midnight, and to have aroused the household and to have cursed in the hearing of the family after Osteen had refused to let him put his horse in the stable or to furnish him with corn for the horse. Osteen says he stood it as long as he could and then ordered Cooper to leave, which he did, but that just after driving away from the gate two shots were fired from the buggy and the bullets passed through the leaves of the trees in close proximity to the house.

Cooper was arrested next morning as he drove into town. When the grand jury considered the case they first returned an indictment for breach of the peace and later a second indictment for malicious shooting. The man who was with Cooper was not indicted. The indictment charged that Cooper was drunk in addition to the other offenses.

OLD AGE OUT OF FASHION IN THESE MODERN TIMES

Careful studies and measurements have shown that our time of actual maturity and arrest of growth in physical characters, such as height, weight and chest girth, is much later than formerly supposed. Instead of reaching, as was at one time confidently stated, our full height at 18, our full strength at 23, and our full chest girth at 25, as a matter of fact we continue to increase slowly. It is true, in all these respects until 35, 38 and even 40 years of age.

By living a beautiful, healthful, active, happy life and keeping up all our interests, we can grow and develop and adjust ourselves and feel that we are growing until we are one day suddenly dead, without ever realizing in any distressing or painful way that we are growing old at all.

Already old age has gone quite out of fashion. The civilized, educated man or woman of 70 is younger than the savage of 40 or the peasant of 50. What with steady spread of regular vocations and country or suburban homes and walking clubs and golf, and gardens and automobile and travel of all sorts, those who would have been considered old once are now only 70 or 75 years young.

Not only is there no definite period in adult or later life when these so-called senile changes begin, but there is no period at which they become accelerated or start to progress at a more rapid rate than before. In fact, the extraordinary paradox exists, that what we term old age is the time of life in which we are growing old least rapidly. The only thing that makes it appear otherwise is that we have been steadily growing old all our lives long and the thousands of imperceptible accumulations have mounted to a pitch which we can recognize.—[By Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Hampton's Magazine.

RECORDS BROKEN BY BIG STEAMER OLYMPIC

New York, June 30.—The largest number of cabin passengers that ever left this port on a single ship boarded the White Star liner Olympic to-day for England. The Olympic, the largest steamship afloat, started the second half of her maiden trip with 2,205 persons in her three cabins. The cost of sailing from Southampton and back is $175,000 and the return from passenger fares will be $325,000. During the steamer's stay here more than 12,000 persons paid fifty cents each to inspect her. The money went to the Seamen's Orphan Fund.

SECRET OF THE MAINE WILL NEVER BE KNOWN

Declares Gen. Bixby—Decay Too Great to Fix Cause of Destruction.

Tampa, Fla., June 30.—"The secret of the destruction of the battleship Maine will never be known," said Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, on his arrival here to-day from Havana. The destruction of the vessel was such, says Gen. Bixby, and the deterioration has been so great that it will be impossible to say whether the ship was blown up from a force from the outside or inside. The greatest force, however, was from the inside, indicating that the forward magazine had exploded. Whether this was from a sympathetic explosion caused by a torpedo from the outside, may forever remain a mystery.

Gen. Bixby says that unless the fragment of a torpedo is found, there is no way of connecting some outside agency with the blowing up of the vessel.

Relics found in the officers' cabin which was aft consisted for the most part of rubber goods. Rubber door mats look as though they had just come from the factory. Rubber bands, rules and triangles have been recovered.

"We do not expect to find any human remains," he said. "The crew's compartment has disappeared entirely. It lay in the vacant place between where the bow now lies and where the middle of the ship was broken off. The bottom under this vacancy is bare of wreckage."

Gen. Bixby declared no further revelations of consequence are expected.

SAVED DROWNING MAN'S LIFE—GOT A NICKEL

According to a little business transaction which took place to-day at Ocean Park between a life guard, Charles Bassett, and George Hagerland, after the former saved the life of the visitor, 5 cents was sufficient valuation to place upon a life.

Hagerland, who is from New York, went in beyond his depth in the surf and called for help. Bassett responded and succeeded after a struggle in bringing the man safely to shore.

Hagerland gave a dime to the man who had saved his life. Bassett accepted the coin and handed back 5 cents, with the remark: "Here's your change."—[Los Angeles cor. N. Y. Herald.

FLIES THROUGH HEAVY SPUME

Of Roaring Niagara Falls In Biplane.

THE DARING FEAT OF AVIATOR

Who Scorned Death in Wild Swoop Through a Narrow Aperture.

FIRST VENTURE OF ITS KIND

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 29.—With the whirl of his biplane motor drowned in the roar of the cataract, and man and machine momentarily obscured in spray and mist, Lincoln Beachey, the California aviator, to-day, after circling above the falls, swooped beneath the arches of the upper steel bridge and down the gorge almost to the whirlpool.

Rising again between the sides of the lower river, Beachey soared to the Canadian side, where he made a successful landing.

It was the first time that a bird man had cut through the air currents and mist clouds and leaping foam caused by Niagara's falls and rapids.

To add to the difficulty of Beachey's flight, a light rain began to fall as he took his seat in the biplane shortly before 6 o'clock. He mounted upward, moving always in the direction of the cataract, and when he crossed the American Falls he was about 2,000 feet in the air.

In a great sweeping circle he swung toward the north and over the Horseshoe Falls. Down the river he flew almost to the lower steel-arch bridge, two miles below the Falls, then curved to the west and then south again, always dropping as he circled.

On his second circle he went well to the west before beginning his low flight toward the upper steel-arch bridge under which he was to pass. Swinging again to the north, and traveling about 50 miles an hour, he came on probably not more than 200 feet over the Horseshoe and through its spray.

Once over the cataract, he lowered his plane, and, rushing with the wind at a speed estimated at 60 miles an hour, he dipped quickly under the arch. As he did so he caught some of the wash of the outlet of the power tunnel, which shoots out from the rocky side of the precipice at that point. At no time from his final dip until the time he was clear of the structure was the biplane more than 30 feet above the spume. The space through which he flew is 168 feet in height and barely 100 feet from side to side. The distance from the brink of the falls to the bridge under which he made the dip is about 400 yards.

STRENGTH OF O'REAR WAXING IN ELEVENTH

Somerset, Ky., June 30.—There is lively scrapping among the Republicans of the mountain section. The most remarkable thing about this party and the race for the nomination for Governor is the wonderful change which has taken place within the past ten days—or whether it is just the fact that the true situation has just come to light. Anyway, ten days ago it looked from careful study that O'Rear would surely make a clean sweep in the entire Eleventh district, carrying every county by a large majority, but a great change has been wrought within the past ten days and now it will keep the O'Rear followers hustling if they get a majority of the counties in the Eleventh district.

It is now almost certain, so some of the very best posted politicians say, that E. T. Franks will carry the counties of Monroe, Cumberland, Adair, Russell and Clinton. These are the very strongest Powers counties, and it is now an open and well known fact that the Powers and Bradley forces are lining up solidly against O'Rear. In Whitley county it is said that Charley Finley will see to it that the delegation from that county will not be of any aid to O'Rear in the Louisville convention, though it may go unrepresented. Bell county is sure to send a delegation that will be for Franks or Cox, while the county of Knox will go uninstructed on account of having a candidate for a minor office, but, as that is the home county of Caleb Powers, it is easy to guess where it will land in the State convention.

In this county (Pulaski), where the fight between these two factions is always the strongest, there will likely be some of a battle and it is practically a foregone conclusion that there will be two delegations from here, one for O'Rear and the other one for Franks or Cox, but probably instructed for some local man. The developments of the last ten days show the fine Italian hand of Senator Bradley, and that means something in this district.

The Democrats are looking on jubilantly for they anticipate a big split in the Louisville convention.

NEW "OLD OAKEN BUCKET"

The old order changeth. No longer do we sing of the Old Oaken Bucket, but in its place has come a modern version which, while it may lack in poetic meter, tells a tale near the line of truth just the same: "The old oaken bucket, The iron-bound bucket, The moss-covered bucket, Don't hang in the well.

The doctors discussed it, Health officers cursed it, And threw the germ-crusted Old bucket to—well—

At any rate, the old song's dead: We use a sanitary cup instead."

THE WHEREABOUTS OF SHERRILL YET UNKNOWN

Former Cashier of Utica Deposit Bank, Who is Short $5,000.

The Owensboro Messenger says: The whereabouts of W. A. Sherrill, the former cashier of the Utica Deposit Bank, is still unknown to the officers of the bank and to the officials of the bonding company, as well as the officers of the Daviess county courts, all of whom are eager to locate the man, as an indictment has been returned against him, charging him with the embezzlement of $5,000.

There is but little doubt that a reward will be offered by the Governor for the arrest of Sherrill, as this will be recommended to him by County Attorney Finn.

The matter of the shortage was brought to the attention of the county officials only after Sherrill had disappeared from this section of the country and nothing has since been heard of him. As soon as the alleged shortage was discovered Sherrill left Utica and went to Webster county, where he made an effort to raise the money to meet the shortage. At that time he stated that he would surrender to the officials of the county at any time that he might be wanted, but failing in his efforts to cover the shortage, he left Webster county.

When the shortage was first discovered neither the bank officials or any of the officials of the bonding company would prefer any charge against the alleged defaulter and he was allowed to take his departure. When the grand jury convened, however, he was indicted, and an effort is now being made to have him taken into custody.

The officials are of the opinion that the offering of a reward will cause his arrest.

The Democratic free list bill in Congress simply means that the farmer will get his vehicles, farm tools, wire fencing, harness and shoes for less money. Is not that a good thing?

Now that the primary is over, it behoves all Democrats to enter into an earnest and loyal support of the ticket. Without this, victory in November will be doubtful. With it victory is assured.

Only one Speaker of the National House of Representatives—James
K. Polk—ever became President.
But our present Speaker—Champ
Clark—is being confidently spoken of for this place.

The aeroplane is now being used to deliver packages which were left behind to ships at sea. But no invention has yet been perfected that will deliver those letters which a man's wife gives him to mail.

The date of the initial g. o. p. State menagerie performance is set for next Saturday, when Republicans will meet in county conventions to select entries into the ring at Louisville, Tuesday, July 11th. Doors open at 1 o'clock. Performance begins at once.

We are yet hoping that the State executive Committee will give the Democrats of Kentucky a State Convention. Such an affair is badly needed, to adopt a platform and handle the live reform issues of the day. The Democrats of Kentucky, in convention assembled, with delegates from the several counties, should take a stand—and at once.

Mayor Williams has taken an important matter in hand, and in another column, in boldface type, will be found his timely warning to the citizens of Hartford in regard to the cutting of weeds in front of premises, the removal of rubbish, &c., and parties found guilty of neglecting this ordinance, after the specified date, will be assessed a heavy fine. The weed and rubbish ordinance has been too long neglected and should be obeyed at once.

It is a good ticket, a winning ticket, that was selected by the Democrats of Kentucky last Saturday to fill the State offices. Each man on it deserves the earnest and enthusiastic support of every loyal party man. Being composed of able, clean men, it also appeals to the independent voter in a strong way.

Every candidate named would fill the office to which he aspires in the most acceptable manner. It is the people's ticket and deserves the people's support without discrimination.

It remains to be seen whether the Republicans of Ohio and other counties of Kentucky will endorse the arbitrary and browbeating methods employed by one or two of their county newspapers to compel them to support Judge O'Rear. These papers seem to think that Judge O'Rear is the only respectable candidate of the bunch and that those who do not support him ought to be driven from the party. In these days politics is a free matter and voters have a right to support whomsoever they please.

It is more amusing than serious to notice the efforts being put forth nowadays by g. o. p. leaders to have the administration of President Taft endorsed. In some places the effort is diligent, but no chance is left unimproved. The various State strongholds are being besieged and if a Republican approaches within shouting distance of the executive mansion these days, Mr. Taft's secretary feeds the Associated Press representatives with the "news" that said Republican is strong for the nomination of the President.

Mr. Wallace Brown, editor of the Bardstown Standard, is a candidate for Representative from his home county of Nelson, and if elected will also be a candidate for Speaker. He announces his platform in clear and ringing tones.
Among the several good things he stands for, he seems to be the only candidate openly pronounced in his position against the Frankfort Lobby, otherwise known as the Third House—a most laudable ambition.
Mr. Brown is a sterling young Democrat and deserves to win all along the line.

Just about a year ago Theodore Roosevelt returned from his African trip, burdened with glory and the homage of the world, and he was received with glad acclaim. The glory of his reception was an event in history. He was lauded by his party and the people as a Presidential hero and his candidacy seemed assured. Then he dashed into politics and made a bad "break." His friends forsook him and he was almost ostracized by his former associates. Now few care to do him honor. Such is the breed of the political steed.

Among the worst of Kentucky's needs is a rigid enforcement of her compulsory educational law. With the many educational advantages afforded, parents who will not voluntarily send their children to school, should be impressed with their duty in a rational yet forcible way. It is a shame that Kentucky stands so low in the scale in educational status. It seems hard to arouse some people to the shame and disgrace of this showing. Let parents be aroused, and, if necessary, let our compulsory laws in this matter be strictly and impartially enforced.

We modestly call the attention of Hartford Herald readers to the large amount of reading matter contained in the paper recently—all of our own selection. Last week there was about 38 columns or nearly eight hundred inches of reading matter space, besides the advertisements. This week as much. We try to give an infinite variety of subjects—home and county news,
the latest State and general news,
a little poetry and jokes; religious, scientific, technical and literary stuff of all kinds—something that will be of interest to everybody. We hope and believe our readers appreciate our efforts to give them a good paper.

PECULATIONS OF BANK CASHIER ABOUT $20,000

But the Bank's Loss is Fully Covered—Accused Has Skipped Out.

Paducah, Ky., June 30.—While the expert accountant, John D.
Smith, of this city, will give out no figures, it has been learned from an authentic source that the alleged shortage of W. F. Purdy, Jr., cashier of the Ballard County Bank, at Bandana, will be around $20,000.
Smith has finished examining the books and is now preparing his report to be made to Purdy's bonding companies. Purdy was under $10,- 000 bond each with two surety companies, therefore the bank's loss is fully covered.

What has become of Purdy is a mystery. As soon as Smith's report is filed with the surety companies a big reward is expected to be offered for Purdy. The cashier's alleged peculations extend back, it is said, to 1905, and he is alleged to have taken money from the bank steadily since that time. He disappeared shortly before the investigation was started and cannot be located.

With a view of reorganization, E.
O. Sexton, assistant cashier of the bank, and assigns, is in Paducah.
Two or three Paducah men are stockholders in the bank. Assignee Sexton stated that the bank would be reorganized and opened as soon as the shortage is settled.

KENTUCKY'S NEXT SENATOR —HON. OLLIE M. JAMES

Ollie James will be the next Senator from Kentucky, the withdrawal of Senator Paynter leaving Mr.
James a clear field in the primary and the certainty of a Democratic majority in both branches of the General Assembly insuring his election.

Though still a young man, he already occupies a recognized place as a factor in national politics. Whatever of success has come to him has been won through his own merit. A large measure of opportunity is before him, both by reason of his ability and experience and because of the virtual certainty that he will be one of the most thoroughly equipped men in the Upper House of an administration Democratic in both its executive and legislative branches.

Always a strict party man, Mr.
James' loyalty to his convictions and to his State, his personal integrity and his capacity for work have been abundantly proved. Possessed of these qualities and soon to be graduated from the best of all training schools for senatorial service, the look ahead for Kentucky's next Senator is one of large promise both to himself and to the State
he is to represent.—[Louisville

ARRESTED FOR CRIME AFTER FORTY-FIVE YEARS

Bonham, Tex., June 30.—After having his liberty for more than 45 years, Daniel W. Byars is under arrest at Greenville, Tex., charged with having killed L. L. Harris, on December 19, 1865. It is said that only one person who witnessed the killing is now living. The witness resides at Fort Smith, Ark., and an effort will be made to have him testify at the trial.

Sheriff W. B. Leeman was advised of Byars' whereabouts some days ago. His arrest at his home near Greenville was made yesterday.

ARTISTIC SOULS WEDDED
IN VERY ARTISTIC WAY

Grand Junction, Colo., July 1.—
Standing before an altar of quartz and granite, carved and fashioned by the hands of the bride, on a narrow ledge 100 feet from the ground and reached by a trail hewn out of the solid rock by the bridegroom, Miss Beatrice Farnham, the Boston artist and sculptress, and John Otto, berm, prospector and trail builder, were married in the Monument National park, of which Otto has recently been appointed superintendent.
It originally had been planned to hold the ceremony on the top of Independence rock, a lofty spire towering more than 500 feet in the air, the pinnacle of which no one has reached before except Otto, who for months has been cutting steps in the side of the rock, but the minister balked and a compromise was effected.

Before the ceremony the bride cooked the wedding feast over a camp fire, then donned her wedding gown of white satin, with long bridal veil, and made her way to the foot of the cliff, where the groom in blue serge coat and khaki trousers awaited beside the minister, who was clad in the full robes of the Episcopalian church.

Later, when the wedding gown had been exchanged for a mountain climbing costume, the newly married pair scaled the Independence spiral and on its pinnacle, where they had planned to be wedded in the first place, went through a ceremony of their own devising.

MATTER OF THE GREATEST MOMENT TO KENTUCKIANS

The school census of the State, just made public, shows that less than forty per cent. of the children in Kentucky of school age attend the public schools. This is a condition of affairs that is quite alarming. Kentucky pays more than one-half of the State revenue for education, and we are sure that there is no more worthy cause for which this money could be spent, but when it is shown that people for whose good this money is appropriated do not take advantage of it, it is high time that those engaged in the work of higher education were sitting up and taking notice. This country needs nothing worse than education, and the States are all liberal in their support of the public schools of the country. Millions of dollars are annually expended for that purpose, but the school man of the future is the one who can get the people to take advantage of their opportunities for higher education and see that the children for whose good this money is yearly expended, get the good of it.
Higher education means a better
State and nation, and to get this result the people must be aroused, and the money spent for education must bring in a proper return in the way of a more highly educated and a broader minded citizenship.—

A year ago efforts were made to remove him. Senator Money, of Democrats are now trying to have the aged negro retained, even mittee placed his name on the list of those for dismissal.

STOLEN GOODS FOUND UNDER CHURCH PULPIT

Mystery Surrounding a Robbery
Committed 13 Years Ago
Partly Cleared.

Simpsonville, Ky., June 30.—A partial solution of the mystery surrounding the robbery of the general store of T. M. Lyons & Co., of this place, on July 30, 1898, came to light this morning when a portion of the stolen goods, consisting of food and clothing, together with burglar tools, were found concealed in the pulpit of the Simpsonville Colored Baptist church, which is being remodeled and painted.

The stolen property, evidently deposited in the pulpit by the thieves for safe keeping, nearly thirteen years ago, was found by the workmen when they displaced the pulpit from the rostrum. The presence of a slip of paper, containing a list of the articles found in the unusual hiding place, led to the belief of the authorities that the list was left with the goods to guarantee "honor among thieves," to insure an equal division of the booty at any time that they should be able to remove it. The loot has been returned to the rightful owners.

On the night of July 30, 1898, thieves sawed out a panel of the rear door of the store of T. M. Lyons & Co. Stock to the value of $150 was taken. The combination of the safe was successfully worked, but nothing was obtained from the iron box as the money had been removed by the proprietor when he quit business for the day.

Three strangers, white men, were seen prowling about the town on the day before the robbery, and were missing the following morning when the theft was discovered. No trace of them has since been found. It is believed that they found they would be unable to make off with all the loot they took from the store and placed a portion of it in the pulpit of the Colored Baptist church, intending to return for it later. The fact that three suspicious characters were seen the day before was published in the newspapers with the report of the robbery. Fear of apprehension prevented the burglars from returning.

To place the clothing and groceries in the pulpit box it was necessary for them to remove the top on which rested the Bible, and then nail it back. That the church had been entered and the pulpit tampered with,
was never detected.

What Was Found Under the Pulpit.
Two new shirts, eight cans of Baking powder, two-pound can of roasted coffee, twelve boxes of matches, one pair of new shoes, size No. 9,
two pair of old shoes, three cheese, one weighing seventeen pounds and the other eighteen pounds, two pairs of long-jawed pinchers, three pairs of overalls, four pocket knives,
one twenty-five-pound sack of sugar,
two old purses, three papers of needles, two spools of thread, one candle, six skeleton keys wrapped in a copy of the Evening Post of date July 30, 1898; three burglar jimmies, and a written list of articles deposited in the hiding place.

His mother being in poor health, it was advisable to take the little fellow from the breast some four weeks ago and place him on a diet of cow's milk, which did not agree with him. Dr. Smith, the family physician, assisted by Dr. McKinney, of Taylor Mines, and Dr. Crowder, of Williams, did everything known to medical fraternity to save little Truman. Dr. Smith being in constant attendance and was with the little fellow when the end came. Funeral services were held at the family residence by Rev. Harper, of Beaver Dam, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Fisher cemetery.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

Business men and officials of Hartford and Ohio county are given a special invitation to attend church next Sunday.

The theme at the Baptist Church next Sunday morning, 10:45, will be, "Observance of the Sabbath." We extend a special invitation to our town and county officials and to the business men—those who are to take the lead in obeying the law and enforcing it upon others. Would like also to have the housekeepers (who cook most all day Sunday), the ball players, the pic-nickers (those who go on Sunday), the Sunday visitors, the reader of the Sunday paper—in fact, let everybody come! The sermon will not consist of hard sayings, but it will be a plea for God's Holy Sabbath. Special music will be rendered and we hope to make the service very profitable. J. W. BRUNER, Pastor.

HOPKINSVILLE BOYS ARE HELD UP BY ARMED MEN

Evansville, Ind., July 2.—Holding up four young men on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, near this city late last night, two armed men made two of the party change clothes with them, went through the pockets of all of them and took what money they had and then made the four run rapidly down the railroad, telling them they would shoot if they looked back. The four young men are Jacob Harris, Herschel Hays, Hugh Rudd and Vernon Homer, all of Hopkinsville. They came to the city later and notified the police of their experience with the hold-up men. The police have no clue to identity of the robbers.

BASEBALL

(By Our Sporting Editor.)
Hartford 16, Rob Roy 4—Saturday.

Barnett struck out 14 and Williams 8.
Six hits were made off of Barnett and 17 off of Williams.

All the Hartford boys played a fine game Saturday.

John Taylor stole home while Williams held the ball in his hand. King was there behind the bat with the goods.

Little Wakeland was there with the goods on second and got two hits.

Estill Thomas was the star of the game—three nice catches and three hits.

Edmonson umpired a nice game. Jee Barrett played a fine game at second for Rob Roy and got a two-base hit, but made a home run out of it, as Thomas lost the ball in the corn field.

Part of the regular team and four subs went to the Mines Sunday and were beaten 15 to 1. They will play our regular team at Hartford soon.

Robertson landed on the ball in the seventh for a 3-base hit.

Dr. Bell won't be with us any more. He left Monday for Louisville to locate.

Adamsburg failed to come last Saturday, but say they will sure be here next Saturday, the 8th.

The put-outs Saturday—King 14, Hunter 7, Thomas 3, Robertson 2, Bell 1.

With Barnett in the box, we have one of the best teams in the county. He sure does make the base-runner hug the bag.

After Hunter played such a nice game Saturday, the boys agreed on him for manager and Barnett captain.

CANNING PLANT AT OWENSBORO BURNED

Owensboro, Ky., June 29.—The large plant of the New Bluegrass Canning Company, one of the largest canning plants in the State, was burned to the ground last night shortly after midnight, entailing a loss of $35,000 and throwing two hundred employees out of work.

The entire plant was aflame when discovered by the watchman, and the origin of the fire is unknown. J. Ed Guenther, the owner of the plant carried $21,700 insurance on the building in the Canner's Exchange of Chicago, but he stated this morning that the loss was considerably larger than the amount of insurance.

In Loving Memory

Of Otis Maddox, who departed this life July 7, 1909.

You are gone but not forgotten,
Never shall the memory fade;
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger
Around the grave where you are laid.

Two years have passed and oh, how we still miss you—
Taken from life so young, so patient and brave;
Some may think the wound is healed;

Little do they know the sorrow that lies in our hearts concealed.

Father, Mother and Sisters.

Thankfulness.

We take this method of thanking the people of Hartford for the many tributes of love and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our mother. We shall always cherish them in our memory and will willingly return any kindness, but God alone can reward them.

THE PICKS FROM LEADING PLAYS

Presented by Nearly One Thousand Actors

TO THE BRITISH SOVERIGNS

And Royal Guests—House Ablaze With Fine Gems and Costumes.

A FEW AMERICANS PRESENT

London, June 29.—The King and Queen and royal and distinguished guests attended the second command performance in connection with the coronation festivities at His Majesty's Theater to-night. For the occasion Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree had arranged a superb program.

The distinguished audience was treated to scenes from "The Merry Wives of Windsor," "David Garrick," "Julius Caesar," "The Cripple," and Ben Johnson's "The Vision of Delight," in which appeared more than 300 leading actors and actresses, with minor actors and actresses filling supernumerary roles, the whole number engaged reaching nearly 1,000.

The whole grand tier was converted into a royal box, beautifully decorated. The audience rose and sang the national anthem as the King and Queen walked to their seats.

Nearly all the men present were in uniform, and the women were superbly gowned, but, as at Covent Garden, the Indian Princess, with their gorgeous and bejeweled apparel outshone all others.

The audience included all the royal and other special representatives to the coronation, Ambassadors, Colonial Premiers and members of the Cabinet.

The King wore the uniform of a Field Marshal, with the Garter ribbon. The Queen wore a wonderful robe of old gold, with the insignia of the Garter, and a diamond fleur-de-lis and Maltese cross tiara.

Special American coronation Ambassador Hammond was a guest in the royal box, and sat beside Prince Louis of Battenberg, who, in a heavily gold braided Admiral's uniform, appeared gorgeous in comparison with the representative of the United States, who was in conventional evening dress. Mrs. Hammond wore an emerald green satin gown embroidered with dull gold.

No fewer than 6,000 persons attended the "King's afternoon party" at Buckingham Palace this afternoon. It was the largest affair of the kind ever held in the spacious grounds of Their Majesties' London residence.

The garden's 50 acres presented a charming picture. A bright sun favored the festival, and the great groves and multicolored flower beds with a large lake in the center looked their best.

Brightly painted barges, manned by the King's boatmen in scarlet and gold liveries, lent a touch of earlier days to the brilliant scene. Temporary structures had been erected on the lawns, and bands of music were stationed through the garden.

King George and Queen Mary with their royal guests, and escorted by the great officers of state, toured the grounds in procession during the afternoon.

Among Their Majesties' guests were many Americans, including Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Taft and Miss Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Templeton Crocker and Miss Crocker, Mrs. and Miss Kerr-Smylie, Mrs. and Miss F. Whitelake, J. Ridgely Carter, American Minister to Roumania; Richard C. Kerens, American Ambassador to Vienna, and Mrs. Kerens; Mrs. Robert Bacon, wife of the American Ambassador to France; Special American Ambassador Hammond and Mrs. Hammond, and Miss Beale Curtis.

Whitelake Reid, the American Ambassador, who with Mrs. Reid and the staff of the embassy was a guest at the garden party, was presented by the King with a coronation medal.

MOURNING FOR DOGS—LATEST FAD IN LONDON

Deep mourning for pet dogs is the latest feminine fad in London. Deep mourning among human beings to a certain extent has gone out of fashion. Deep mourning for dogs is taking its place.

A London woman tells how, having advertised the loss of her dog, she was surprised and shocked to receive the same evening an envelope in mourning nearly an inch deep. Inquiring of her veterinary surgeon what this meant, she was told that mourning for dogs by memorial cards, with deepest black edging, and even by wearing black clothes, is becoming a definite fashion.

"In one instance," he said, "a clergyman accompanied a dog to its burial. Many smart women owners now intimate the death of a pet dog by means of mourning cards.

"They use the deepest of borders—sometimes three quarters of an inch deep—on their envelopes, and have special mourning cards printed of the same pattern as those used when human beings are concerned."—[Tilt-Bits.]

TAKE IT IN TIME

Just as Scores of Hartford People Have.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect the aching back, urinary troubles surely follow. Act in time by curing the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for sick, weakened kidneys.

Many people in this locality recommend them.

Here's one case: J. C. Weatherholt, High street, Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I did not think it possible that I could ever be well again. In fact, I had settled up my affairs. I cannot describe the misery I endured from pains through my back and whenever I stooped, they became so sharp that it really felt as if some one were thrusting a knife into my kidneys. I was often very dizzy, dark spots floated before my eyes and I had to grasp something to keep from falling. My joints became swollen to twice their natural size and I lost weight rapidly until I was a mere skeleton. The doctors' medicines or the many guaranteed cures that I tried, did not help me and finally it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills. I immediately procured a supply and I was greatly surprised by the results received. Before I had taken contents of the second box, there was a marked improvement and I continued using them until I was completely cured. I am now as well as any man in this county and I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

OWNS WORLD'S FINEST JEWELS

Maharaja of Baroda a Modern Croesus.

GLITTERING GEMS ABOUNDING

Everywhere, Which Add Glamour to Priceless Furnishings of Palace.

A GLIMPSE OF MAGNIFICENCE

Another native ruler who is likely to attract public attention is His Highness Maharaja Sir Sayaji Rao Gaekwar Bahadur of Baroda, who possesses probably the finest collection of jewels in the world.

The Gaekwar represents a state which has been in the hands of the Maharattas since the early part of the eighteenth century, when his ancestor, the first Gaekwar, wrested the territory from the hands of the Goguls. He became the ruler of Baroda at the age of 12.

His palace at Baroda is one of the most remarkable buildings in India. It has cost millions to build from first to last. It is called Lakshmi Vilas—"the Abode of the Goddess of Fortune." The corridors are of alabaster and pearl, inlaid with precious stones, and the throne room is magnificent in its gorgeous splendor.

The Gaekwar's jewels are the wonder of Asia. In the "toshakhana"—the treasure chambers of the old Nal Bagh Palace—there are precious stones the like of which not even Aladdin or Sinbad ever saw. There is the famous "Star of the South," one of the great diamonds of the world, bigger than our own Koh-i-noor, and the only second to the Cullinan. Then there is the great collar of five hundred diamonds, with a double row of pear-shaped emeralds, the broad scarf literally covered with row upon row of pearls, and knotted with immense pigeon blood rubies on the left shoulder; and the necklace, which falls from the throat to the waist, made up of seven rows of pear-shaped diamonds as large as hazel nuts. There is a carpet, large enough to cover the floor of a fair-sized room, covered with seed pearls, and is worth a king's ransom. And, besides all this, there are bushels of uncut stones and cups carved out of solid emeralds.

Nor are these gems and precious metals confined to the treasure chambers. They may be found in the elephant stables as well. These have their gold and jeweled howdahs, one of which is the gift of the Empress-Queen Victoria. Another for the little Prince is borne by silver leopards, which have spots of chrysoprase and aquamarine. There are great forehead plaques, girding prongs and leading chains of pure gold inlaid with every gem. And for those who wish to climb up into the howdah there are ladders of solid silver. The stables contain other treasures. There is a victoria made of gold, and a litter for the use of the Maharani also made of gold, with curtains of cloth of gold, and handles set with rubies. And then there is the wonderful silver bullock wagon with beautiful embroidered hangings of gold tissue. And last of all, there is a cannon of solid silver which a former ruler of Baroda had made, and another of solid gold which a successor, not to be outdone, had cast.

But fortunately for his people it is not in his treasure houses that the heart of the Gaekwar is to be found. His training under European influences has led him to see that where the Oriental falls in his contact with the Occident is in the matter of education. His four sons have had the benefit of an English public school and university education, having studied at Eton and Oxford. The Maharaja Kumar—the Baroda Crown Prince—is quite European in his tastes. He was allowed to choose his own bride and to see her face before marriage.

The Gaekwar has made education the chief feature of his rule in Baroda. He has quadrupled the number of elementary schools in his dominions, and supplemented them with technical and secondary schools. There is a perfectly equipped polytechnic, and to crown all, there is the Baroda University, which His Highness has built, and the domes of which rise above the public gardens and crown one of the finest modern buildings in India.

The Gaekwar has been a great traveler and in all his wanderings he has paid the closest attention to the methods of education in the countries he has visited. Moreover, he has obtained the best teachers he could get from all lands. Five years ago he paid a prolonged visit to the United States, the result of which was that his only daughter has been educated there, and one of his sons has spent some time at an American university. [London Chronicle.]

A GOOD RELIGION.

To be able to look every man squarely in the eyes; to make friends and hold them; to keep clean of mind and body; to smile at ill fortune; to laugh at my mistakes; to frown when temptation comes a-visit; to be ready with a word of cheer when that word will help; to strive to develop to the utmost the heart, head and hand qualities endowed by the Ruler Over All; to hold all women in respect and to love one; to weave the thread of Eternal Optimism into the lives of all with whom I may come in contact; to worship Nature and the Great Spirit that conceived it all—in a word, to play the game of Life with a steady hand and a qualmless conscience and a real desire to be of service—that is my religion. And, say—if I can live up to the mark, don't you think I've corralled about all the creed that is necessary?—[Backbone Monthly.]

NEGRO'S SKULL CRUSHED—NEVER BATS HIS EYE

Taylorville, Ky., June 29.—The black man's proverbial "hard head" was given an impromptu try-out here this morning and the test more than substantiated tradition.

Reiley Brown, negro porter at the branch plant of the National Ice Cream Company here, was almost scalped when the manhead of a hot water heater struck him, following an explosion. In addition the iron cut a clean hole three inches in length across his forehead. The pulsations of the brain could be plainly discerned through the aperture.

Notwithstanding the fact that Drs. J. T. Martin and O. M. Crenshaw, who attended the injured man, removed a tablespoonful of shattered bone from the wound, the negro never lost consciousness; indeed, he declared he felt no pain whatever, and didn't even have a headache. The negro will get well.

KITTY LEAGUE BALL GAME

CENTRAL CITY, JULY 9th

On July 9th the Clarksville and Henderson (formerly McLeansboro) clubs will play the game scheduled for that date at Central City Athletic Park in Central City, Ky.

This is no amateur game, but is one of the regular championship games played between these two teams, and the reason it is to be played in Central City is that the law will not permit Sunday ball to be played in Clarksville, where this game is scheduled to be played.

Ladies are to be admitted to the grandstand on this day without extra charge.

Trains on the I. C., North and South, have been practically assured to accommodate those who may attend from either direction, and the L. & N. regular schedule is such as to accommodate everybody who may desire to come on that road. The game will be called at 2:45, thus enabling everybody to stay through the entire game and catch their train after the game is over.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Filters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them. And enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back if not satisfied. Only 50c at James H. Williams.

BURIED UNDER HEAVY PILE OF GOLD COIN

San Francisco, June 23.—Literally buried under nine million dollars in gold, Wadsworth S. Williams, an employee of the San Francisco mint, was so badly injured that his recovery is doubtful. The gold, in sacks, toppled in one of the mint vaults and overwhelmed Williams, who was wheeling a truck.

ONLY A NEWSPAPER GUY.

I see a man strut through the jam in the hall,

Take a seat 'mid the speakers and chat with them all.

"Is this Murphy?" I ask, "that the crowd he defies?"

"No," says someone, "he's one of the newspaper guys."

I see a man pushing his way through the lines

Of the cops, where a fire brightly glimmers and shines.

"Chief Kenlon?" I ask, hut a fireman replies,

"Oh, no, why that's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man start on the trail of a crook,

And he scorns all assistance, but brings him to book.

"Mr. Burns?" I inquire. Someone scornfully cries:

"Burns? Naw. He's just one of them newspaper guys."

I see a man walk through the door of a show

Where great throngs are blocked by the sign S. R. O.

"Is this Goodwin himself, that no ticket he buys?"

"Well, hardly. He's one of those newspaper guys."

I see a man knock on a president's door

And the sign "No Admittance" completely ignore.

"Is this Morgan, that privacy's rights he denies?"

"Morgan? Shucks! It's just one of those newspaper guys."

And some day I'll walk by the great streets of gold,

And see a man enter, unquestioned and bold.

"A saint?" I'll inquire, and old Peter'll reply:

"Well, I should say not; he's a newspaper guy."

CATHOLICS AROUSED OVER GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENT

Louisville, Ky., June 30.—Catholics of Louisville and Jefferson county are aroused over the alleged discrimination on the part of Governor Wilson in his recent appointment of William F. Yust, librarian of the public library here, as a member of the State library commission to fill the remaining place in the membership of that body.

The Federal Catholic societies of Louisville and Jefferson county have literally swamped the Governor recently with petitions from prominent persons over the State asking for the appointment of Dr. W. B. Doherty, a local physician. Notwithstanding these requests the Governor appointed Mr. Yust.

Action protesting the appointment will be taken by the Federation on Tuesday, July 11, its members claiming at least one Catholic should be included on the commission.

MERCHANDISE DELIVERED ON STEAMER BY AEROPLANE

New York, June 30.—The first piece of merchandise delivered at sea by aeroplane fell on the upper deck of the giant Olympic as she steamed through the Narrows, outbound on her maiden eastward passage.

A Philadelphia had contracted for delivery of the package before sailing, with a department store, which in turn engaged Thomas Sopwith, the English aviator, who recently took up Henry W. Taft, the President's brother, for a sky ride.

With Richard R. Slinclair, Secretary of the Aero Club, holding the package, Sopwith arose from the aviation grounds at Garden City and timed his flight to meet the liner in the Narrows.

While Sopwith controlled the aeroplane, Slinclair dropped the package at the given signal.

A BACHELOR GIRL'S REFLECTIONS.

Truth, is, indeed, stranger than fiction—in the mouths of most married men.

Usually a girl who can speak four languages and think in two, marries a man who can eat in six languages and can't think in any.

When a woman longs for a "career" she usually means that she prefers careering 'round a platform talking platitudes to puttering round a kitchen washing pans.

Sometimes, the man and the fish who "got away" always look so much more desirable in the vanishing perspective.

Joy cometh in second mourning.

Speaking of signs, it is a bad sign for somebody when a widow begins curling her hair again and a widower begins to take an interest in his haberdashery.

The average man's attitude toward a clever woman is that of the curious small boy who wanted to "shee de wheels go round."

If a girl is pretty enough she can sometimes manage to live down a college education.

It's useless for an heiress to waste time learning to speak French in order to captivate a foreign nobleman, because her money will do the talking for her.—[By Helen Rowland in Chicago Journal.]

WAS SAVED IN MID AIR, FALLING 20 STORIES

Chicago, Ill., June 30.—Patrick Eustice, one of the human flies whose agility and power of nerve makes skyscrapers possible, lost his balance to-day and toppled from the twentieth story of the Helms Building.

Ordinarily that statement would complete the story. The structural iron boulder slipped from a beam in the dizzy heights, just as scores of others had done under similar circumstances, and his companions, certain of what would happen, would not even turn their eyes to see the mangled body below.

As Eustice fell, John Murray was pounding hot rivets into place on the nineteenth floor directly beneath him. Murray lunged out from his position, seized the falling man by a flying garment, but the weight of the man was too great to permit him to hold on.

All that Murray was able to do was to swing his fellow workman out of his course and into the opening in the shaft at the eighteenth floor. He fell headlong upon two crossed beams on the eighteenth floor and half way off, and clung there. His thigh was injured, but not seriously.

ONE ON THE AMERICAN—IRISHMAN'S COME-BACK

A native-born American member of a party of four business men who often lunched together took great delight in joking the others on their foreign birth. "It's all very well for you fellows to talk about what we need in this country," he said, "but when you come to think of it you're really only intruders. Not one of you was born here. You're welcome to this country, of course, but you really oughtn't to forget what you owe us natives who open our doors to you."

"Maybe," said an Irishman in the party, thoughtfully. "Maybe. But there's one thing you seem to forget. I came into this country wild and barefooted and me clothes on me back. Can you say the same?"

MEAN INTERFERENCE—WHY HE DIDN'T FIGHT

Bildad is very proud of his prowess, and upon occasions is a trifle quarrelsome because of his assumed powers with his fists. It was rumored that he and Dubleigh had had a near-fight at a little dinner recently given, and Tompkin, desirous of getting at the truth of the matter, broached the subject at the club.

"Yes," said Bildad, getting very red in the face. "Dubleigh and I nearly came to blows. I wanted to lick him then and there, and I'd have done it, too, if I hadn't been grabbed from behind and held back."

SAFE MAKER VERSUS THE SAFE BREAKER

Adroit Plans Are Employed to Thwart Methods of the Latter.

A number of years ago two prospective safe makers succeeded in obtaining employment in two different safe factories, worked over a period of years in the various departments, gained all the information that they desired, and, subsequently working together, managed to baffle the safe makers by their skill in opening complicated safes in different parts of the country. The police were at a loss to understand how the safes had been opened, and only upon the apprehension of the two men several years later was it learned that the jobs had not been "inside" ones, as was originally suspected, but had really been the work of two men who had been initiated into the mysteries of safe craft, and had put their knowledge to criminal use. This put the safe makers on their guard, and an exceedingly complicated system was immediately put into force, whereby not only was the pedigree of every workman looked into closely, but the work among the employees was so separated that no one man or two men could gather enough information about a safe to put it to dangerous use afterward. Furthermore, when an employee is discharged, or when he voluntarily leaves his position, his actions are watched, and, although safe companies refuse to discuss this particular point, it is a matter of record that any former employee of a safe company, who is possessed of intimate information regarding the secrets of that company's safes, is kept under constant surveillance. As an illustration of the thoroughness with which this is done, there may be cited the case of a former superintendent of one of the principal safe companies, who was discharged eight years ago for intoxication, who subsequently sought and obtained a position as superintendent of an iron foundry in the Middle West, who has now held that position for the last seven years, who has done his work well, and who is kept under the eye of a detective in the safe company's pay. There is not the slightest reason to doubt the man's integrity, but as has been suggested by the man's employer, who knows his superintendent is being watched, the safe company seems unwilling to take the slightest chance.—[Harper's Weekly.]

RELEASED AFTER BEING IN ASYLUM 30 YEARS

Barcelona, Spain, June 24.—Senorita Matilde Andeyro has been released from an asylum after thirty years' confinement on a trumped-up charge of lunacy to enable the trustees of her enormous fortune to manage it to suit themselves.

Senorita Matilde refused to marry a person of their selection and has spent all this time in a madhouse rather than yield to their wishes. She was accidentally discovered by a cousin, who has obtained her release.

The case is attracting great interest throughout Spain owing to the high social position of all parties involved. Her father was a colonel in the Spanish army in the Philippines, where he accumulated a fortune after the customary manner of Spanish colonial grandees.

HAIR TAKES THE PLACE OF SKIN IN GRAFTING

Chopped hair has been successfully substituted for skin in skin-grafting by the French surgeon, P. Carnot, who has applied his method in many cases. It is based on the fact that the cells of the hair and its roots are epidermic outgrowths and can be easily transformed into skin cells. The use of hair not only does away with the necessity of taking skin from other persons, which is a painful operation, but it is said to be an improvement as well, as it is strong and hardy, and, being insured to a minimum of nutrition, is able to thrive under unfavorable conditions, such as prevail where grafting is necessary.

The manner of performing the operation is simple, a few hairs being pulled from the head of the patient or of a relative, and, with the bulbous root removed, the freshest or newest parts are cut into small pieces, so as to form a coarse powder. This powder is then strewn over the surface of the wound and a proper bandage applied. Within a week white spots appear on the surface, rapidly increasing in size. The spots extend and thicken, and finally form a perfect new skin.—[Popular Magazine.]

STRAWBERRIES TEMPTED THE HUNGERING FISH

Lee, Mass., June 30.—Fred Vosen was fishing in the Lee Reservoir to-day and heard near shore what he at first supposed was a muskrat. It proved to be a big carp.

He watched the fish for some minutes and says positively that along the shore strawberries hung over the water varying in distance from 4 to 10 inches from the surface, and he was surprised to see the big fish bobbing its head out of the water and grabbing the berries.

Vosen watched it repeat the operation half a dozen times. He then tried his bait and succeeded in hooking the fish. He had to shoot it before he could land it. The carp weighed 32 pounds.

END OF PROTECTION ERA— CAN IT REALLY BE TRUE?

When a solid Republican delegation from the State of Kansas votes solidly for a Democratic measure reducing by one-half the duty on wools and woollens, it ought to be plain to everybody that the old Republican doctrine of protection has fallen upon evil days. When a Republican Senator from the great State of New York frankly admits, as Mr. Root admitted yesterday, that he does not think that the farmer has been greatly benefited by the protective system, perhaps not protected at all except in some instances along the Canadian border, it must further be evident that the bond that has so long united the Republican party and the protected interests is broken.—[New York Times.]

THE RECENT VISIT OF STATE INSPECTOR

To Hartford, Found One Discrepancy—Other Offices Were All Right.

The following telegram from Frankfort appeared in the Owensboro Inquirer Tuesday of last week: State Inspector McKenzie Todd has filed with the Governor his report on the investigation he recently made of the public offices in Ohio and McLean counties.

As the result of his investigation the inspector turned into the State treasury the sum of $1,404, collected from former officials of Ohio county, and $415 from McLean county.

The inspector also commends the County Judge and County Clerk of Ohio county for the business-like manner in which they conduct their respective offices, but criticizes the practice of the Commonwealth's Attorney and the County Attorney in collecting fines, which they have no authority to do under the law, this power being delegated to the Sheriff and trustee of the jury fund only.

To the above the inquirer adds: The above telegram does not apply to Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo or the present attorney of Ohio county, as all the money collected by the inspector was from former officials of the county.

When shown the above telegram Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo said: "I have never collected a fine since I have been in office, because the statute says whose duty it is to collect all fines."

For the benefit of our readers, who are not acquainted with the facts of the above, in justice to the officials of Ohio county, will say that a few weeks ago Mr. Carver, a representative of the State Inspector, spent several days in Hartford, going over the records of the Circuit Court Clerk, the County Court Clerk and the County Judge.

In County Court Clerk Tinsley's office the inspector found that his books balanced exactly to a cent, and every book, record, etc., was in perfect shape. It was found, however, that a former Clerk, Mr. Randall, had discrepancies in his records that amounted in all to something like $1,200, with penalties amounting to about $200. Mr. Randall made good this amount.

Upon investigating Circuit Clerk Barrass' books the inspector found them correct with the exception of a few fines which had been overlooked, but would have been ultimately checked. Mr. Carver complimented Mr. Barrass very highly upon the manner in which he kept his office, and stated that it was in perfect shape. Judge Wedding's office was also examined and found O. K.

JUST KEEP ON PUSHING— IT'S GOOD FOR EVERYBODY

If there was more push in the world there would be fewer hungry, half-clothed, homeless, suffering children; fewer broken down, dispirited men and women; less need of almshouses, houses of correction, and homes for the friendless. Push means a life for a neighbor in trouble. Push means a life for yourself out of the slough of despondency and shiftlessness, out of trouble, real and fancied. Push never hurts anybody. The harder the push the better. If it is given in the right direction. Push uphill—few people need a push downhill. Don't be afraid of your muscles and sinews—they were given to use. Don't be afraid of your hands; they were meant for service. Don't be afraid of what your companions may say. Don't be afraid of your conscience; it will never reproach you for a good deed, but push with all your heart, mind and soul, whenever you see anything or anybody that will be the better for a good, long, strong, determined push. Push! It is just the word for the grand, clear morning of life; it is just the word for strong arms and strong hearts; it is just the word for a world that is as full of work as this is. If anything is in trouble, and you see it, don't stand back—push! If there is anything good being done in any place where you happen to be, push!

SAYS SHE CAN'T LIVE ON A THOUSAND PER MONTH

Washington, June 30.—"The Roosevelt panic," high cost of living, supporting an automobile and chauffeur and her husband's serious illness were reasons given today by Mrs. Stillson Hutchins for asking an increase of her monthly allowance of $1,000 from the $4,000,000 estate of her husband.

For several hours Mrs. Hutchins gave intimate details of her mode of living, expenses and domestic management, fanning herself vigorously and answering many questions with evident show of indignation.

"I got $800 and $1,000 a month and sometimes only $600," said Mrs. Hutchins, when asked what her allowance had been. "The year of the 'Roosevelt panic' I was reduced to $600 for a time," she said.

When asked if the allowance was intended to cover all her bills and expenses, Mrs. Hutchins said:

"What! Cover all my expenses? Most distinctly not."

"I have had an apartment in Paris nearly six years," Mrs. Hutchins said, explaining part of her expenses. "I pay my chauffeur more than my cook. I find my car costs me much more than I think—tires, repairs and painting. Then, too, wages of servants are higher than three years ago. Food, marketing everything costs more. In one month this year the expenses of the household were $2,500."

Mrs. Hutchins said that sum did not include charities, theater tickets, phonograph records for Mr. Hutchins and other "necessaries."

Mrs. Hutchins could not remember details of expenses of her European trips, because she went so often and to so many different places.

SPECIAL NOTICE In regard to OBITUARIES, RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT, &c.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written at the behest of lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of two cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word, straight. This is the smallest rate we charge for anything and is only one-fifth of our regular rate. The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word.

Our old rule in regard to Obituaries, &c. was 150 words free, balance a cent a word, but this did not prove satisfactory because the bounds were almost always overstepped, and we have been forced to adopt this new rule, which is in effect from now on. Contributors will please remember.

KILLS HIS STEPFATHER
OVER MOTHER'S SHOULDERBoth Raced for Deadly Pistol—Mother Couldn't Avert Tragedy.

The Hopkinsville New Era says: Firing over his mother's shoulder, who ran between him and his stepfather in an attempt to prevent a tragedy, William Burdlin, aged 18, fired a shot which struck his stepfather, James Castele, over the right eye, causing instant death.

Neighbors who hurried to the scene of the tragedy were astonished to find the boy in fine spirits and saying that he was glad he did it, because he would have been killed himself if he had not. The parties live at Dawson Springs.

Early Wednesday morning the boy went into his mother's room, where she was sick, and asked her about some housework. His father ordered him to shut up and leave the room. The boy repeated the question, whereupon the stepfather seized a chair and started for the boy, but was arrested by his wife who jumped from her sick bed.

According to the boy's story his stepfather swore at him and said he was going to get his gun and kill him. Both left the room at a run for the drawer where the pistol was kept, the boy reaching there first. The mother followed and made a desperate effort to prevent the shooting.

The boy surrendered to Marshal Wilson and was placed in the county jail Wednesday afternoon. The examining trial will be held some time next week. L. R. Fox, a prominent attorney, was engaged to defend the boy.

Castele, according to the boy, had threatened on several previous occasions to kill him. The slain man was a teamster and had been living at Dawson Springs for about a year.

LEGISLATIVE
CANDIDATESNamed at State Primary Saturday.

MANY NOMINATIONS MADE

For State Senator and Representative in Various Districts.

DEMOCRATIC SUCCESS IS SURE

A feature of the Democratic State primary in many counties comprising senatorial and legislative districts, was the nomination of candidates for State Senator and Representative, and these contests in every case overshadowed the races for the State offices.

In the First Senatorial district—Fulton, Hickman and Graves counties—W. A. Frost was nominated for State Senator over Sam V. Norman, both the candidates balling from Graves county. Frost carried Graves and Hickman counties, while his opponent received a majority in Fulton county. The district is overwhelmingly Democratic and the nomination equivalent to election. Frost is a strong county unit man.

The four-cornered fight for the nomination for State Senator in the Twenty-first district—Carroll, Henry, Oldham and Trimble counties—was won by W. B. Moody, of Henry county, the home of the other candidates, who were W. T. Chilton, W. H. Ellis and H. K. Bourne. The selection was left to the primary in Henry county. Moody's nearest competitor was Ellis. The district is reliably Democratic.

A pretty triangular fight was made for the nomination for Senator in the Twenty-third district, comprising Boone, Gallatin and Owen counties, which went to former Representative J. W. Berkshire, of Boone county, who defeated J. R. Kennedy and S. W. Tolin in the primary which was confined to Boone county. The nominee is assured of election.

Nominations for Representative were made in the following districts at the Democratic State primary:

Anderson—J. R. Paxton defeated Edgar D. Burton, for Representative. The district is strongly Democratic.

Hallard—Carroll—L. B. Owen, of Arlington, was nominated. He will have no opposition at the November election.

Barren—C. C. Terry and Elkins Dickey, both claim the nomination for Representative.

Boone—G. D. Carroll was nominated for Representative over N. Allen, by a small majority.

Boyle—Representative W. F. Pittman was defeated for renomination by Francis B. Douglas, a young newspaper man of Danville.

Bullitt—Spencer—David B. Thurman, a former newspaper man, won the nomination for Representative over his two opponents, W. M. ("Windy Bill") Thompson, a former Representative, and E. L. Snider. The district is safely Democratic.

Garrard—John M. Farra won the nomination for Representative over J. A. Doty and J. O. Bogle, the incumbent.

Graves—T. J. Gregory captured the nomination for Representative in a five-cornered contest, defeating Seth Boaz, A. L. Hicks, John R. Thomas and John B. Hobson. He will have a walkover at the general election.

Hardin—The four candidates for the nomination for Representative came "under the wire" closely bunched, but Will A. Shawler managed to win by a nose. The other candidates were W. H. McNamara, D. M. Cooper and Jerome Meers. The nomination is equivalent to election.

Harrison—Representative H. C. Duffy could not qualify for "come back" honors and was defeated for the nomination by a small majority by James A. Leach, an ultra "dry" advocate.

Henry—Much interest was manifested in this race on account of the fact that former Lieut. Gov. W. P. Thorne, who represented the county several terms in the Legislature, was a candidate for the nomination, attaining that he desired to round out his political career with one more term in the House. The successful candidate was Dr. Elijah Bishop, who defeated Gov. Thorne by a small majority. The other candidates, who ran as pacemakers, were J. C. Renfro and W. H. Johnson.

Pendleton—John F. Fryer landed the nomination for Representative over A. I. McKenney, by the narrow margin of four votes.

Union—G. L. Drury, a well known lawyer, defeated John T. O'Nan for the nomination for Representative. He will be elected easily.

Warren County District—A. W. Palmer won the nomination for Representative over W. R. Whitlow, who sought renomination. The district is regarded as safely Democratic.

Webster—In a three-handed fight for the nomination for Representative, D. W. Wiley won out over D. B. Baker and W. G. Roney. The nomination is equivalent to election.

In the Morgan-Wolfe district the indications are that Horton, of Wolfe, has won the nomination for Representative.

START $500,000 FUND TO

Indianapolis, Ind., July 1.—Every member of a local union in this country is to be asked to contribute 25 cents toward the defense of John J. and James B. McNamara, charged with dynamiting outrages in Los Angeles, according to a plan adopted by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and other national labor organization officials, made public in this city today. It is expected in this way to raise a defense fund of $500,000 this summer.

The various national labor union headquarters are to be asked to send the "contributions to Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor. "McNamara stamps" bearing a portrait of J. J. McNamara also are to be issued by the Federation of Labor, to be sold at 1 cent each, the proceeds to go into the defense fund.

Washington, June 30.—Approximately 600,000 acres of land have been opened to settlers under the registration plan through a proclamation signed by President Taft, 150,000 acres being within the Fort Berthold Indian reservation of North Dakota and 450,000 in the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian reservations in South Dakota.

BLIND TIGER OPERATOR
IS GIVEN FINE OF $63

Bedford, Ind., June 30.—Harry Terrill, an aged man on trial before Mayor Fields, charged with running a blind tiger, was convicted and given a fine and costs of $63, to which was added a jail sentence of sixty days. Terrill is past seventy years of age and until forced out of business by the option law had been in the saloon business at Huron, this county, for many years. The trial is the result of a raid by the officers on his place, in which a considerable quantity of liquor was found.

KENTUCKY NEWS NOTES.

A stock barn belonging to James Arnell, east of Sharpburg, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The barn was worth about $2,000, and the loss is only partly covered by insurance.

A new and untied horse that was being driven to the delivery wagon of J. E. Buckman Grocery Company at Uniontown ran away and threw Willis Hargrave, the driver, to the ground, fracturing his skull, from which he died in a few hours.

Fire, supposed to have been caused from a defective flue totally destroyed the frame country home of Will F. Henry, near Judy, Montgomery county. All of the contents were burned, and the loss will reach $2,000, with insurance of $1,000.

Later reports regarding the deluge which flooded Hardin county at an early hour Tuesday morning are to the effect that there were rises of eight to ten feet in many creeks of the county, and that the consequent damages to the crops will total thousands of dollars.

W. G. Dunn, an inmate of the Eastern Kentucky Asylum for the Insane, escaped from the institution a few days ago and prowled for several days about the South Elkhorn neighborhood and caused much excitement in that vicinity before he was finally captured.

A brood sow belonging to Melvin Hall, a farmer of upper Beaver creek, gave birth to twenty-one pigs, all perfectly well formed. In two litters she has given birth to forty-eight pigs. The owner has been offered a fancy price for the sow, but will not accept it.

Gasoline leaking from the light machine at the Presbyterian church in Sharpburg, ignited and caused an explosion during services. A panic prevailed for awhile and it looked as if the church was doomed. The fire department was called out and the flames were extinguished.

Growers of Nicholas county intending to raise a crop of tobacco this season have just completed the last transplanting and the crop is now all out. A careful investigation shows about two-thirds of the usual amount of acres transplanted, but most of it has been set so late that it will be hard for it to make a crop.

Despondent because of protracted ill health, James E. Rowland, aged sixty-eight years, a well known farmer and horseman of Bourbon county, committed suicide in a barn on his farm near Paris, by shooting himself through the heart. The body was found shortly after breakfast by a farm hand who had gone in search of him.

The Stony Creek section of Nicholas county was struck by a water-spout, which did a great deal of damage from the waiving of the land and overflowing of the bottom lands, where growing crops were almost ruined. Stony creek and tributaries went on a rampage and cleared out water gaps and tore away much fencing.

Matt B. Kelly, of Mt. Sterling, was pinned under his engine at Aden Springs, Carter county, and instantly killed. Creighton Stump, of Lexington, the fireman, was unhurt, though Roadmaster Watkins was burned, and his leg broken and he sustained internal injuries. Spreading rails caused the overturning of the engine.

Surveys for the location of Dam No. 51, opposite Smithland, twelve miles above Paducah, are being made by a party of Government engineers. Soundings are being made by survey boat No. 2 in the tow of steamer Waverock. The dam will be just below the mouth of the Cumberland river at the foot of the island at that point.

Thirty-six days in the workhouse was the aggregate of the sentences given by Police Judge Southgate in Lexington to a gang of half a dozen negroes who were caught loafing about the streets. Judge Southgate and Chief of Police Reagan are making a vigorous crusade against idle negroes loafing in that city while the farmers are unable to find enough hands to attend to their harvest.

The ninetieth birthday of Miles Webb, oldest member of the remarkable old Webb family of Letcher county, descendant of Daniel Boone, was celebrated by a general family reunion at the home of Uncle Miles at Mayking, above Whitesburg, in which hundreds of the descendants of Uncle Miles took part. They came from all over Letcher county and Wise county, Va., to be present at the reunion which has been held annually for several years.

Suit was filed in the Franklin Circuit Court by Suter Adams for $10,000 damages against the Capital Gas and Electric Light Company, of Frankfort, for the drowning of his little son, Oscar Adams. The petition charges the neglect of the defendant in allowing children to play about the top of the dam or dike owned by it on the bank of the river. The boy was playing near the dam about two weeks ago when he fell into the Kentucky river and was drowned.

A flight of homing pigeons, the object of which is the establishment of records, was started at Lexington when 250 of the birds were let loose, with Rochester, Jamestown and Buffalo as their destination. The flight of the birds will be checked up by telegraphic reports.
